White vs. Red

Admitting that the red man was the first to use tobacco, it is still true that the white man has the best of it; the red man never enjoyed a smoke as good as

If you like the red man's style of smoking, let us furnish your pipes and tobacco.

'REAPING the HARVEST'

Last Night's Performance at the Opera House—A Play and a Company Above the Average

Tom Fitch's popular melodrama, "Reaping the Harvest," was performed at Marion Opera House in a thoroughly competent and highly artistic manner. A good average sized audience was in attendance, though there was no necessity for the "S. R. Q." sign. Every one seemed pleased with the play. Frequent ripples of laughter passed over the crowd, while toward the close a suggestion of tears was seen in many eyes. The scene is laid in Kentucky and Ohio and some good character sketches are drawn true to life. There is not a weak member in the company. Mr. Fitch took the role of the hero and won all hearts, including that of the heroine, Miss Louise Larken, "nee" Miss Julia Romaine, who did some strong emotional acting. "Lem Kronk," the stuttering boy with the mouth organ, was very comical. Miss Madeline Treagan, as Marie Morley, the lady with a past, was very stately and wore some of the prettiest costumes that appeared. "Archie," the office boy, was sui generis and imitable. He was a girl, Miss Juliette Farish. We trust the company will favor us again next year.

WOODMEN IN SESSION

Josiah Towne, of Minneapolis, one of the head camp officers of the Woodmen of the World, lectured Sunday afternoon in the Woodmen's lodge room to a goodly number of Woodmen on the good of the order. He is an easy and graceful speaker and his talk was very much appreciated. Mr. Towne also instructed the lodge in the secret work and familiarized the members with some of the more difficult work.

A CONVINCING ANSWER

"I hobbled into Mr. Blackmon's drug store one evening," says Wesley Nelson, of Hamilton, Ga., and he asked me to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, with which I had suffered for a long time. I told him I had no faith in any medicine, as they all failed. He said: 'Well, if Chamberlain's Pain Balm does not help you, you need not pay for it.' I took a bottle of it home and used it according to the directions and in one week I was cured, and have not since been troubled with rheumatism." Sold by Anti-Monopoly Drugstore.
